Policy on the Republication of Images

For any author seeking permission to republish images, drawings, photos, maps, or other intellectual property copyrighted by the New World Archaeological Foundation (NWAf), they must make a formal request using this form. Provide a complete citation of where the original image(s) or artwork appears, sign this form, and return a digital copy by email. By signing this form, you agree to the following conditions:

1. You will provide in-text citations in your publication that refer to the original place of publication.
2. You will include the following phrase in the figure captions: "Courtesy of the New World Archaeological Foundation."
3. Upon publication, you will send two copies of the published work to the NWAf for inclusion in our libraries at Brigham Young University and the Chiapas research facility.

If the author fails to deliver two copies of their published work, we may not grant the author permission for the republication of other NWAf images in the future. For article-length works, a single digital copy will be accepted and may be sent by email to: msearcy@byu.edu. Book-length and other printed publications should be sent to the following address:
